

HYPERIONORBIT

Coming of age around the millennium in a part of Northern Europe where most raves were held in local sports halls, bouncing around other teenagers in Adidas track suits, Buffalo boots and bucket hats, there's no doubt about what has shaped the sound and aesthetics of HyperionORBIT tremendously.

Already spinning techno tunes across the dancefloors under his alter ego Otaku, the Copenhagen based artist always had another part of his mind focused on finding the perfect entity to host his most wild influences. Leaning heavily on the legacy of Goa and Frankfurt alike - along with the contemporary sounds of his group of friends -, he gradually brought all these trajectories to one point to shape an awesomely hybrid universe.

With a dab of psy-trance, a speed driving tempo and some trippy synths, HyperionORBIT delivers a very melodic and euro centric take on hard trance, and seems definitely born for an accelerated future.

HYPERION

ORBIT

CONTACT

booking@weird-planet.eu

